

CAUSE OF REPUGNANCE to some constitutional limitation, but to demand of the government that it establish its right to exist as a State."

Conviction Affirmed.
Washington, February 19.—The Supreme Court today affirmed the conviction of John Powers, of the Virginia Mountains, near the Kentucky line, on charges of connection with an illicit distillery. Powers claimed that his constitutional rights were violated when he was compelled at a preliminary hearing to tell about his connection with a still a year before the time charged.

CHALONER'S CASE BROUGHT TO TRIAL

Troubetzkoy, Margaret Chanler, a sister, was the only member of his immediate family tried. This, said Mr. Chanler, was because Winthrop Astor Chanler had sent him a copy of "The Quick and the Dead," with scurrilous marginal notes.

The lawyer went on to say that on December 8, 1906, a meeting of the Iteanoke Rapids Power Company, an industry built up by Mr. Chanler, was held in the Hotel Kensington. In that meeting Winthrop Astor Chanler approached Mr. Chanler, who was lying ill on a bed, and attempted to strike him with a clenched fist. Chanler deposed his brother and said that he meant to demand an accounting of his father's estate, only one accounting having been made by the executors, his father-in-law, in ten years.

Mr. Chanler made a will which disinherited all but one of his brothers and sisters, and left the bulk of his property to the University of Virginia. Stanford White, after an acquaintance of several years, visited Mr. Chanler in Virginia and cursed him for burying himself in the country, and began leading up to his finally successful effort to get Mr. Chanler back to New York. "Just before that," said Mr. Chanler, "Mr. Chanler and his brother, William Astor Chanler, were traveling in the compartment of a Pullman car. Mr. Chanler saw a paragraph in a newspaper accusing William A. Chanler and the trainer of his racing stable of dishonesty in racing the horse Salvator. Mr. Chanler did not seem to resent the criticism, to Mr. Chanler's disgust.

Petersburg, Va., February 19.—Because of the illness of George S. Bernard, the senior counsel for the defense in the Appomattox Trust Company cases, the cases against Charles Hall Davis and Carter R. Blash, which had been set for hearing to-morrow, were postponed until Tuesday of next week. The defendants have been acquitted on all embezzlement and other charges, and the only indictments remaining are those alleging the making of false reports to the State Corporation Commission.

Will Accept Call.
The Rev. J. A. McGuire, of Henderson, N. C., who has been extended a call to the Second Presbyterian Church, and who twice preached to the congregation yesterday, will remain in the city a day or two longer. While he has not made formal answer to the call, it is understood that he will, in all probability, accept.

It is understood also that Dr. L. M. Roper, of Spartanburg, S. C., who is to be called to the pastoral charge of the First Baptist Church, will accept a unanimous call of the congregation. Dr. Roper, during his ministry of twelve years in Spartanburg, built a $150,000 church, and a school in the building of another costing $10,000. His congregation there numbers 400 members.

The opening number is a rattling good evening act, styling itself the "Boiling Brunettes." There are a number of cracks which are now and some of the comedy is good. As a whole the bill will serve to while a very pleasant hour.

"The Spring Maid."
The important question confronting theatrical managers, "Can a musical play be clean and yet successful?" seems to have been answered most effectively by Messrs. Werba and Luescher in their production of "The Spring Maid," which will be presented at the Academy to-morrow and Thursday and Thursday matinee. In its dainty and pleasing little story of the romantic love of a sailor's widow and a dashing prince not a suggestive situation will be found.

Blanche Ring.
Blanche Ring comes to the Academy Friday and Saturday, with a matinee on Saturday. Her new comedy, "The Wall Street Girl," by Margaret Mayo and Edgar Selwyn, which it is said, teams with bright dialogue and clever situations, the music by Karl Floehma is of the kind that lingers in the memory, and Hapgood Hurt was written an engaging lyric. Miss Ring has a half-dozen catchy songs, which she will sing in her inimitable manner.

Young Man Shot After Quarrel.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Martinsville, Va., February 19.—Chas. McNeely, a young man living near Leatherwood, was shot and dangerously wounded by Sam Eanes near Leatherwood yesterday afternoon. No cause is known for the shooting, but it is said that there was an old grudge between them.

Eanes had rented McNeely's farm, and was in possession of it. McNeely claims that Eanes had told him that he was to be shot, and that he was to be shot. McNeely was attending Dr. Halsey, of Leatherwood, and was at his home when he was shot. Eanes had been arrested. Both are young men and both are married.

PLACE JACKSON STATUE
V. M. I. Board to Decide To-Day Upon Its Location.
One of the matters to come before the board of visitors of the Virginia Military Institute, which will meet at Martinsville, Va., to-day, will be the location of the Jackson statue of General Stonewall Jackson, the gift of Thomas Buchanan and of Sir Moses Ezekiel. It is to be placed in the grounds of the institute during commencement week in June.

There has been a difference of opinion in the board on the proper place for this monument. At present the Ezekiel statue, "Virginia Mourning Her Dead," stands in front of the wall of the Jackson Hall. It is suggested that it be moved to one side, and that the Jackson statue be placed in a corresponding position on the other side. Others favor putting the Jackson statue directly in front of the hall, and reading "Virginia Mourning Her Dead" to the center of the bodies of the cadets killed at Newmarket, which the work of art is intended to commemorate. The board will put it close to the parade ground after it has been extended in accordance with the plans of the board.

Want Eddie J. Chambers.
Major Werner would like to get into communication with Eddie J. Chambers, a resident of Petersburg, who yesterday afternoon, a letter has been sent to Chambers in care of the police, and is now being held for him at police headquarters.

Tuberculosis Medicine Saved This Man's Life
Pneumonia is a serious disease, and often lays the foundation for chronic lung troubles. Sometimes Tuberculosis results, which is a serious and stubborn cold. It is wise to take Eckman's Alternative. Don't wait and find out whether the trouble is getting worse, but take Eckman's Alternative in time and avoid the dangers of disease. Read of the recovery in this case: "Gentlemen: I am getting along very nicely and gaining strength all the time. I now weigh 154 pounds, a gain since September 18, 1907, of 25 pounds more than when I first started to take the Alternative. I wish I had known of it two years ago, as it would have saved me much misery and distress. I was suffering from a very serious and dangerous lung trouble, which followed a bad attack of pneumonia. A physician and a specialist declared by case hopeless. I cannot but be very thankful to you and the Almighty God for the great blessing and recovery which Eckman's Alternative has brought me. Since writing the above statement I wish to say that I have fully recovered my health, having been cured for over three years." (Signed Affidavit) THOS. REILLY.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung troubles, and in all conditions of the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Owens & Minor Drug Company and other leading druggists. Ask for books of tested cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

JULIUS STRAUS PASSES AWAY
Had Long Been Identified With Leading Business Enterprises in Richmond.
Julius Straus, one of the most widely known citizens of Richmond, died last night at 8:15 o'clock at his residence, 11 West Grace Street, in his sixty-ninth year. He had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Straus was born in Richmond May 4, 1843, and had lived here all of his life. He was a citizen of the city, and had been identified with public life both of the State and city, having served in the City Council and as a member of the board of visitors of the Central State Hospital, at Petersburg. He was for a number of years president of the Congregation of Beth Abraham, an active leader in the interests of his people. He was pastmaster of Fraternal Lodge No. 23, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, and was a treasurer for thirty years.

Mr. Straus was survived by his wife and by four sons—Milton J. Irving J. M. and Percy J. Straus—and by one daughter, Mrs. Josephine Rosenbaum, all of this city, and by three brothers—A. L. Straus, Isaac Straus and Abraham Straus—all of whom are well known in the business life of Richmond.

Mr. Straus had been for a number of years associated with his sons, M. J. and Irving J. Straus, in the insurance firm of Julius Straus & Sons, and had been widely known in business connections. The arrangements for the funeral have not as yet been completed.
